Dear Mr. Everts,

Our price list is enclosed.

I'm pleased that in about 300 letters you are the first to comment correctly and understatedly about the butchery of Case Open. It was worse that you could see. I did catch all those errors and some you do not mention and they were not corrected. They did the book on the cheap knowing there wasn't a thing I could do about it at my age and in the state of my health. They also eliminated most of the chapters, about 3/4 of them, in which, using Poinsner's prosecution approach, I provided a factual defense from the official records only. Aside from exculpating Oswald that added to the proofs I had published earlier that there had been a conspiracy.

What you say you'd like to see would be fine if it could be done. I think that because your wife is a lawyer she may understand this better. We really do not know who was there and what they saw because too many of the reports have from little to no ^{re-}~~re-~~ credibility at all. While this is true also of the some of the official testimony, the difference is that it is testimony and it is official and officialdom is hung with it.

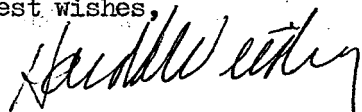

I have done, to the degree possible for one old man, with the evidence, with the official facts of the case, what you suggest, beginning with my first book.

I have tried to ^aassemble the evidence for the people and to put it together in a form they can understand. I have carried this further in the book the publisher has been sitting on, I interpret suppressing, for almost two years- completed before I wrote Case Open, and in two others finished in rough draft that I fear will be only a record for our history in deposit in a college and a university.

From the first, and my first of the Whitewash series was the first book on the Commission and the investigations, publishers have feared solid writing about them. I think that says much about what happened to us when JFK was assassinated. To us and to our society and to our system and how it works and can work.

I did not see the Investigative Reports show. Several health problems have been before the evening show are on. I do not remember being interviewed for a show of that title. What probably happened is that those who produced it got the footage from someone else.

Thanks and best wishes,

Harold Weisberg
