Dear Sir:

I hope this letter finds you well and thank you for responding to my note of some time back.

I have enclosed a check to cover the purchase and shipping of two of your books. I hope my math was correct. It is my sincere hope that you will take a moment to autograph one of the books--just a signature is more than enough. I don't ask this of just everybody.

In fact, I have only two autographed books: one is a collection of political cartoons by a local man named Steve Benson (I have enclosed a particularly pointed example of his work from last November) and John Toland's two-volume biography of Adolph Hitler.

Sincerely,
