'Not Guilty' Of Assault --Marcello

Carlos Marcello was at liberty under his original bond of Agent Patrick J. Collins Jr., $5,000 today after pleading in missed, and then threw another nocent to a new indictment punch at him. charging an assault on an agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Marcello was reindicted by a Federal Grand Jury selected in conformity with a recent decision of the U.S. Fifth Circuit NEW STEEL MILL Court of Appeals, which held that juries must be chosen in erect a steel mill here. a manner reflecting a broader section of the community.

at New Orleans International Airport after Marcello arrived from New York, where he was arrested, along with 12 other persons, in the Borough of Queens.

Marcello allegedly struck at Marcello's counsel were given 30 days within which to file technical pleadings, after government attorneys voiced no objection to the delay.

WORK ON DAM The alleged attack occurred BANGKOK-Thailand has beon the night of Sept. 30, 1966, gun work on a new giant dam.

JUNE 15, 1967