Honey -

Monday a.m.
4/11/47

Before you awaken to be a day later I'm dropping you a note to tell you I had about the most comfortable trip back I've ever had, so far as the train is concerned.

There were plenty of good seats - I had one of those reclining ones. However, my sinus troubles grew worse & I couldn't sleep. At Treston I had to be so waiting for the bus that I took a cab. I was on the post at midnight!

I Napped in the infirmary awakened the night man & got some sleeping stuff from him. So took it about a half hour to work, after I got in bed - if it had did work. I got up with a clear head but a shooting feeling. Something like the weather here. I feel okay, but for the burning dull pain, which I hope will soon pass off. My run - conversation - has got me up sometimes this morning. I noticed there were early shipping lists. I had the night watchman wake me up.
As a good thing I did. My Infantry didn't get in until 5 of 6, when I had everything done. And the then supply shack isn't open yet.

Well, hey, now she got so close up my nose I got ready to go back to work.

Take care of yourself - and many, many men happy holidays.

Love
Kidd.
