Henry - It'll be two hours before you will get up, but Ois will awake this morning day. Not even the dismal blooming of the Lake fog has been keep me from feeling more like Ois down. Well that's up here this morning - when I close my eyes. ... By the time you actually come, I'll begin to feel like I'm dead.

There is a report we may have to take our man again today. I hope not. Ois is proud of bedding up yesterday I had had to strain my back.
I wish I reached a little. I washed myself & my stuff, polished shoes, packed my new clothing, wrote you me a card, gorged (I'd believe, probably pre-empted a cold) & went to bed with words of Guthrie. All could read was one chapter. There was too much noise & interruption. But I really like that chapter. No. I think I'm trying to look.

I hope today I'll get a letter.

reporting your trip to the country.

I am very interested in the Ma-A.S. situation, & hope that

The reports were very "fascinating."

And the garden? It prospers, I trust.

We did have a few days last night, but for the first time, I missed it. I had begun to react to the weather, ~~and~~ I had a lot of work to do here, & his was just real. The boys were finished making tops & was finishing my work.

I spend a little ~~time~~ time trying to locate a box in which to put the Mrs. It's radio. No joy, no good. I guess the next thing is to sweat out a screw & make one.

In case I never told you, the one today we have in my supply room is a hammer, & the one perfectly some gasmark type. I could live there with Andover & give the set plenty of protection. Of course, I'll get the set off as soon as I can.

I enclose a piece of paper it is for an release job, which is very sandy and

In you to see the basis on.

Well, honey - it is now close to the time I have to get down to my mat in a big strain - spinning & sweeping, the floor has been very soft
The fire, issuing cleaning materials to the barrels, etc. Then for my "republic" supply club. . . . Yesterday afternoon I got a feller to take me in supply here under the great mountains & I told the rest that who personally asked me, that I was interested in the offer really to be made, Bill Sisson was completely ignorant of supply, he smiled & understood.

Jesus now I'd have to stay here.
Some Reason!

I hope you would read what I said about artificial insemination.
I don't know what the prospects would be of getting any cooperation in red. I guess it would depend on the data at whatever post you are in. If you were a "new" any data, at all interested in his field & say the chance, why fine. Meanwhile, it is another but a pleasant thought with which I can occupy these moments I have for personal thoughts.

Well, dear, I've got my fingers crossed, good luck, & take care of yourself.

Love
Arthur
