Hate, Racism Fading, Says

By JAMES HEARTY

lars of hate, discrimination, cant learning in history, reli-prejudice and racism are being gion, culture, ethics and con-undermined, "although much too temporary issues related to our slowly," a Jewish leader said here today.

Temple Brotherhoods and the want to love God." Jewish Chautauqua Society at Feinberg said that if these the Roosevelt Hotel.

A MEMBER of panel on the problems of Chautauqua, educational adjunct of the federation, Calif., attorney, presented lov-feinberg then quoted "The Leging cup awards to Chautauqua acy of the Prophets": "There may be much suffering because donated by Harold W. Dubinsky, of suffittial blindness tractions. problems of Chautauqua, educaof spiritual blindness, great tra-St. Louis, Mo., honorary presi-yail because of human stupidity dent. and deep searching before man-kind discovers its soul, but in leans attorney, today was electthe end of days, it shall come ed a member of the 70-member to pass."

This, he said, is the hope and concept of the Jewish Chautauqua Society.

Solon Myles Chadabe, New bassador to the Organization of York, federation vice president; American States, will be the Ivan Novick, Pittsburgh Pa., featured speaker.

and Sylvan S. Lebow, New York City, executive director.

ALL EFFORTS of the Jewish Chautauqua Society, said Feinberg, "are directed toward a single purpose, to bring to the students on the college campus, the Boy Scouts, students in secondary schools and the youth attending Christian summer The foundations under the pil- camps the experience of signifi-here today.

"However, our people patient race," asserted Frank Jewish brother and I thank God Feinberg of Jersey City, N.J., we can dialogue together. I president of the Temple Beth-do not want to change him. I El Brotherhood, in an address to the 22nd Biennial Convention think I need to love him. of the National Federation of I must love my brother if I > are honest sentiments. work has not been in vain."

board. Officers were to be elect-

The convention ends tomorrow night with a banquet at Others on the panel included which Sol M. Linowitz, U.S. am-