Dear Mr. Goldberg,

After receiving your letter of July 20 and the enclosed print of the full Altgens picture, I did not expect to be writing you again about it. However, I now find that on trying to have a portion enlarged, the lab informs me that in its original enlargement it was out of focus. Of course, I am not expert and have no independent knowledge of this.

What I had sought to do is what you have already done. I wanted a further enlargement of the man originally thought to be Oswald. Can you supply one, made with a little care, from the original, not the wire, negative? I'd like it to be as clear as possible and large enough to show the pattern of the shirt.

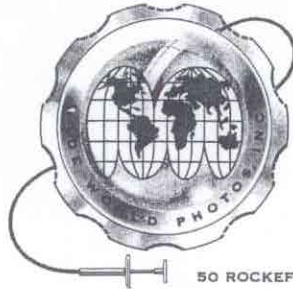

I am reluctant to keep asking for copies of this picture, but I do want as clear a shot as it is possible to get. Should you be able to supply one that is not enlarged out of focus, as I hope, perhaps I can sell this one for you. What is your charge for it, with publication not intended? There are others interested in this subject who I know who might like it.

Thank you very much for anything you can do.

Sincerely yours,

Harold Weisberg

Dear Mr. Weisberg:

The enclosed is a print of the full negative as requested.

The black marks outlined in the picture are from the frame in which the negative was placed.

Please let us know if we can be of further help.

Sincerely,

Meyer Goldberg
