Dear Bruce,

Our Bookface Academic ball has not come yet.

None appears to be available locally or at Hagerstown, where the dealer's office is.

He has it on order.

Naturally, it is long overdue.

My wife has used a 10-pitch ball to provide a sample. If it is adequate for the relatively few pages we'll be doing, I'd like to go ahead and reprint using it. In time and for the future we'll have the Bookface Academic.

My belief is that this will be much more legible than because of the carbon ribbon.

I was not here when Lil typed this. She held the right-hand margin in. She also did an odd and an even page. On the second she did run a trifle low.

After George has seen how this works, please return it. If we have not received the other ball we'll proceed with this one. Assuming it is okay.

I would like to know about the added sig of which I wrote last.

I have another pretty hot document that is relevant to the one on which this epilogue is based. I'd like to be able to include it and if there is ~~any~~ space maybe a picture page.

Best regards,
