

I've looked at CE's 567,569, C2,C3. Neither is anything like as clear a specimen as a firing stub. The nose part especially. If positive identification was ballistically possible from the ~~the~~ thought be no problem at all with the firing remnant. Especially not the nose piece, which is distorted terribly and shows no sign of foreign matter. has been a long time but I think this was my purpose in wanting these pik. IM 2/6/76
