Dear ^{Jack} ~~Mr.~~ Carlson,

The list of our books is enclosed.

I owe you forthrightness in answering your questions about those books.

Mcagher's simply magnificent! Can't praise it to highly. If you do not have a copy it is being rem^{oved} now by Hamilton, in Connecticut. Some bookstores may still have the Vintage edition.

All the rest are flawed in various degrees and in varying degrees will mislead you.

The only thing wrong with Fonzi's is that Veciana he did not prove worked for the CIA. As of the time of my information, he did not. He worked for those who from time to time worked with the CIA. But not as part of it. His criticism of the House assassins committee is not exaggerated.

Although Lifton claims to have discovered everything in the first part of his mis-titled book, just about all was published many years earlier. His theory was to his knowledge impossible and that made him rich and famous.

Livingstone's stuff is sick as he is in the head. As with all those who begin with preconceptions and pretended solutions, his sole interest is in making them seem real when they are not. His last book is an atrocity that is quite false and libellous, but who can possibly sue without being a millionaire?

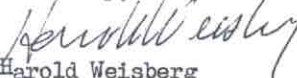

Groden for all his pretenses remains a subject-matter ignoramus, with light fingers, too. You can't depend on a word he says. He can't even steal straight.

Beverly Oliver, I'm sure, made it all up.

Lane's Plausible Denial is a knowingly fraudulent book. The sole question before that jury was malice. He got that nonsense from that woman ^{Lynch} whose name slips my mind at the moment in a way I cannot understand. Not relevant except that he could claim she was a source. With sources there was no malice by Marchetti, terrible as what he wrote is.

Hamilton's address is Box 15-523, Falls Village, CT 06031. They add $3.00 to each order for postage and handling.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg

Dear Mr. Weisberg,

Please send me one copy of "Frame-Up." I have already read "Case Open" which made me interested in your work. Will you be giving us any more books? If so, please keep me advised. What is your opinion of such authors as David Lipton, Harrison Livingstone, Hector Gonzzi, Matt Lane, Robert Hudson, etc? Also, Beverly Oliver has a new book, "Nightmare in Wallaw". What is your opinion and would it be good to read? Do you know where I can get a copy of "Accusations after the Fast"! Again, so many thanks!

Jack Carlson
