Mr. Gene Wilson
Fels/PA Coordinator
CIA
Wash., D.C. 20505

Dear Mr. Wilson,

I am glad to get your 1/21 response to my 1/14 letter as it relates to prior releases.

We have not sent the CIA enough checks to have a separate bookkeeping/entry for them so checking in this manner presents problems that would not exist if my first inquiries about having been supplied what others had received had been answered.

I have no reason to question your records as they show what was sent to me.

If there was a delay in any of the packages reaching me that might explain it.

As I now recall it my first inquiry of this nature was prompted by the report of the receipt of a batch by another.

A response at that time could have had meaning. A search of my records is a practical impossibility for me.

This, of course, also gets to the withholding of the X index to the records as they were released. It guaranteed unnecessary confusion. It also assured unnecessary work on all sides. Your assistant general counsel reported verbally some time ago on a check that had not been reported in writing, so I still had nothing to go on.

Your letter does not indicate the extent of the casing release. It does of the index. I therefore cannot send a check in advance. However, on receipt of these records, as in the past, I will send a check for the indicated sum.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
