Dear Brian,

Enclosed is my this morning's letter to Charlier.

If you have an address in D.C. or the U.S.A for Radio Difusion-TV Francaise I'd appreciate it in the event I have to take legal steps to effect recovery.

It is possible that I have finally put a Canadian handle on the CIA's drug-mind bending operations, with a link to a death. I think it would make quite a story. It includes having located the diaries of this farout operative, whose initial intelligence training was in Canada.

As I told you was inevitable, I have received nothing from Mary Ferrell. I'd still like to hear what Gaudet, Jenner and perhaps a few others had to say and I would like all of it for archival deposit.

I stay busy on the FOIA work, productively. I'd like to find time to write.

When you are down this way again perhaps we can discuss this official toying with minds. By then I'll have more of what is indicated above, although the actual diaries are too distant for me to think of making personal examination of them.

One of my sources, a reporter who was somehow involved in the earlier stages of that Orwellian work, has located for me another reporter who has had access to the diaries. Last night he informed me he has also put a few new things in the mail.

Best wishes,
