

CUTLER DESIGNS

38 UNION ST. MANCHESTER, MASS. 01944

3/6 Before I forget, when we are together I would like you to have time to read some Nancy Perrin Rich files, understand R. B. CUTLER, ARCHITECT them and their overtones, and, after we have a detailed discussion of it and the significance, undertake to interview her, which will not be an easy thing to do for, in addition to being deathly afraid,

I'm not as undone by the results in NO as apparently you expected me to be and inbetween my letter and your reply Bud wrote to me and I have sent him a note indicating I'm interested in helping in any way ... it is good to know he is your friend and I certainly am not intentionally pushing him ... all I wish to do is work with those who are to continue and see this through as far as it can be done ... to answer why is only because it seems to me imperative that some truth be made a part of what has been done and hopefully even someone might be apprehended who has been avoiding the inevitable... I agree to sit by and play be ear but at least there should be some kind of organisation and I defer to you in assessing what it must be.....

HB What's with Trent Group's group? Don't really

I really wonder if she knows what is true and real and what is not. I also have some pictures for you to examine, one for you to take with you(maybe more) for her to comment on. Can you do this on tape, if she is willing? I will want to suggest an approach. I think she was close to being in the fat through someone she trusted who was busily engaged in framing her. It is a large file and I have one memo I have done on it that is about 20 single-space pages. This will also give you an insight into the Garrison investigation that you will have to keep entirely to yourself. If it sounds mysterious, this it will have to be for now. Do you know anyone I can get to do a little economic investigation, trace down a corporation and all those connected with it and do it in confidence? Bud is also interest in what I have in mind with this...In the long pull, despite all that cannot be excused, the net effect of the N.O. fiasco will be to advance us much. It has already, as you will see when you read POST MORTEM III. I am not confident of the Garrison perjury charge of knowing Oswald but I am of two other counts of which I gave him solid evidence he failed to use as he should have during trial...Bud, I think, is now also doing some rethinking, easier now because he
