Dear Mrs. De Vito,

Thank you for taking the time to write me in candor.

Perhaps you are not old enough to remember his words from having heard them, but may I recall to you FDR's; We have nothing to fear save fear itself.

If nothing has happened to me, it will not to you and others who express yourselves. Perhaps the situation with witnesses is different, but not others.

Instead of being afraid, why not exercise your own responsibilities as a citizen and tell your Congressmen and Senators what you think on these and other issues. If we do not do this, we have no right to complain against them and they, in turn, do not know what we would like them to do.

They may not always respond, but they cannot unless they know what the voters want of them.

But above all do not be afraid. Man makes, has made and will always make mistakes. The measure of a genuine worthwhile society is its willingness to rectify error. That we must demand.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Weisberg:

The Warren Commission's Report is grossly misrepresented. I recently read Fred Goerner's "Search for Amelia Earhart". If I had not read this book, I would not believe the government would volunterally mutilate evidence.

I am just an average citizen and housewife. I am in no way connected with any organization or am I receiving any commission for recommending Mr. Goerner's book. I only refer to it because he too was (and still is) refused the truth. In reading this book you will become aware of the methods and to what limits Intelligence will go to suppress the truth. Their methods have no boundries in order to achieve what they call justice. I am interested only in justice as a concerned American.

Congratulations in your effort to expose.

Personally, I'm even afraid to sign this letter because any one who resented the truth has unfortunately met with some form of death.

(surrounding Kennedy's death)

Yours truly,

Mr. M. De Vito

A concerned citizen
