

Dear Kevin,

Ted Madison spoke to me over the weekend. I expressed my willingness if we can find a time when we can both be free. And with my present limitations, which preclude even the use of tools, your offer is attractive.

As of now I do not know if <sup>the</sup> lawyer who handles my Freedom of Information cases is coming next weekend and if <sup>it</sup> is whether it will be Saturday or Sunday. However, if you want to try that soon, please phone. (473-8186.)

For when you do please also try to prepare what you'd like to go into. My time is limited. I'm working against real pressure on a new book when I can't put in the hours I once did. I'm behind on some filing as much as four months, necessary reading has stacked, etc.

What I have in mind is trying to restrict yourself to what is not in my books or what you either may not understand or find incomplete. I think you can appreciate that time I take from more work to chew over what has been digested is not spent constructively, at least as I see it.

Thanks and best regards,

Dear Mr. Weisberg:

Last Sunday I got together with your neighbor Ted Madison and discussed your books concerning the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. I have read parts of Whitewash I, Whitewash II, Photographic Whitewash and Post Mortem. I found these books to be thoroughly engrossing and I am basing most of my report on your information.

During the course of this discussion, Ted suggested that I may be able to help you with some work around your estate in exchange for some time to talk with you about the assassination. Having read your books, the Warren Commission Report and several other books dealing with this subject, I feel that we could have a rather intelligent conversation concerning the assassination.

If nothing comes up I should be free on any weekend following the one coming up. If you would like to make such an agreement you can get in touch with me through my teacher, Ms. Alice Dekker in care of Catoctin High School, Thurmont, Md., 21788. I really would enjoy talking with you as I feel that you are the most knowledgeable person around concerning this subject.

Thank you for your cooperation and I will anxiously await your response.

Sincerely,

Kevin Mick
