Dear Mary,

Something I forgot to ask of you when last I wrote. I hope it is no real trouble.

Paul Rothermel ask that I get some things for him. I have some and expect more during the coming week. I will want to send these to him as soon as I have everything.

However, I also hear he has left Aunt.

If you can give me his home address, I can write him there and ask him include what I'll have.

If he is not listed in the phone book and the office will not give his address, perhaps Sue will know it. As once indicated knowing her. (Maybe you also know him, but he didn't indicate that.)

Nothing really new here, except for our first snow of the season and Lil having a slight touch of a non-specific virus. She does not have to stay in bed and isn't, but she did spend the day wrapped up, on the sofa, sleeping and knitting when awake, silently, for these things always take her voice. My bad joke, when people ask how she is, is to say she is "unspeakable". Used to make her mad but doesn't any more. But when she is this way, which isn't very often, I prefer to be near her so she can signal if she wants anything, like hot tea, etc.

Come at an inconvenient time, tho. Bud was to have come up yesterday to work on one of the two suits we'll file and couldn't because of an emergency involving another client. And I was to go to Washington tomorrow to see someone whose help might be of value and might be enlisted, and I'll postpone that now.

Worst part is I think she got it from me and while I incubated it I also strengthened it. And I got rid of it sooner!

Thanks if you can do this. Best regards,
