JFK memorandum on meeting with Herman F. De Brueys

When attached Mr. Schneider handed me [illegible] which I believe is Mr. [illegible] (the name is unclear) memo to a records I have not seen, the transcript of an unfavorable FBI interview with the above mentioned then man Dean [illegible] De Brueys. Whether he had been or not is [illegible] and in many ways it would [illegible] be better.

Whether and I am confident false charges had been made against Mr. De Brueys by a man with whom he'd had previous [illegible], Orrest Pace. In essence Pace claimed to have seen De Brueys and Oswald together.

Mr. CBS asked of the interview is a brief [illegible] of file that was hardly more than a formal denial, no more than was necessary to avoid allegations of indifference against CBS.

I believe that any fuller version is an historically important record because of the widespread attention given to the Pace allegation and because he was also a witness before the Richardson subcommittee of the Church committee. (I was unsuccessful in my efforts to get him to recall that he had given me a different version of a similar story in which De Brueys did not figure. I believe I also indicated to Senator Schweiker that the story had become a mythology and was baseless.)

If there was a doubt assessing committee witness then there is added historical importance to the record and added reason for the full transcript of the interview to be available in reference to De Brueys and his family. Even if only at some distant future date.
