

Dear Andrews-Walter Sheridan price offer.

Until reminded of it today, I believe I forgot to note Arthur Egan's report to me after I returned from N.C. that he was in the Royal Orleans Hotel at the time of the original Clay Shaw hearing when he overheard a conversation between Walter Sheridan, NBC and Dean Andrews. Sheridan was trying to persuade Andrews to change his story about Clay Bertrand. He told Andrews that in return he would be well taken care of.

Egan told me he was willing to testify to this in court in N.C. Apparently, the anti-Hoffs crew (Epstein) of the DJ is trying to charge him with carrying a $25,000 contributions from the Teachers to Garrison.

He was supposed to have been here by now but is snowed in. He was going to come here before going to N.C. or Indiana, if my recollection is correct, or both.

When I spoke to Bud today, he said Egan had told him the same thing.

Egan is an investigative reporter with the Leeb Manchester Union-Leader.
