Dear Miss Fisher:

I wish I had time to answer all the letters that come in but I just do not.

By coincidence, immediately after you wrote yours of November 24, I was on the Joe Dolan show again and will be there live on the 14th during a three-day stay in San Francisco.

Many thanks for taking the time to write.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg

Mr. Harold Weisberg,
Hyattstown, Maryland.
Dear Mr Weisberg:

I will tell you now, if you fellows don't quit writing books and articles on Pres. Kennedy, I am going "Stone Broke" I buy everything I see about it and try to read and digest it all, but I do fall short of getting it all done thoroughly at times, I feel. I have tried to get through "White Wash" and found it far better than many of the others, I will try to get the second edition if I can do it...I am on limited income.

One thing, I seem not to find in any of the books, which puzzles me, is a Paul Bondsman who was on TV just after Ruby shot Oswald. He said he had clients, whose names he was not at liberty to reveal, in Beverly Hill who would put up money to defend Ruby. "Money was no object". I heard more of him. Who was he, and what happened he has not been interrogated? Also the "Memory artist" who "Could not be fooled in remembering a face" who said Oswald was in Ruby's Night Club some times? According to him, he had to remember faces for his act.

Some where in the writings and the thinking of J.F.K. I maintain he signed his own death warrant. I have many books, I am trying to wade through them. I find a Gem occasionally. I am not educated or able in any way to explain the thing, however, on page 91, the last of the first part of Mrs. Lincoln's book on her twelve years with J.F.K. The last paragraph is a quotation by a fictional MR. Dooley. On Page 25 of Schlessingers 1000 Days, (Hard Back) is a conversation between L.F.J. and Adlai Stevenson. The idea of J.F.K. and being first, and then when he offered any thing to any one they grabbed it like a fish at a worm. All through his own writings, and his own way of thinking, he kept this thing going. I heard Paul Fay on Radio, and he told instances substantiating this. I don't have his book. I have heard him several times. It is a thing which keeps bugging me. J.F.K. stepped on the wrong toes some where along the way. We have the School tax money, not going to certain schools. I feel that if it could be ferrited out some way, with the people who knew him and could tell more than they are writing, it would be an easy thing to solve. I also can't see a wife watching the autopsy you described on Joe Dolan's program the other night.

Drew Pearson wrote once of the Ambassador from some cent. Amer. country, Puerto Rico make, who visited the King Ranch, and became very upset at the ones there, not Kleiberg, his family and visitors., very happy over the assassination. He wrote that in the summer of '64.

Connolly switches back and forth. The things the Kennedys kept. God-who would want to keep things like that? They would haunt the average person I would think. This thing could go on and on.

I am a heart sufferer, and don't get out much, only days to do things I have to do, and in my looking in the magazine and book stores, I hear a lot of young people talking and asking for magazines, and buying. I hear all the Radio talk programs, and the things people think. This can become dangerous.

I know you get many letters from "We Crack Pots", or "Arm Chair detectives", so to speak, but it shows the world is thinking. I had written Joe Dolan to ask where you were. I had heard nothing of you since your first conversation with him. I was glad to hear you on the phone this week, and will look forward to hearing you when you are here in person.

These are some of the things I have sort of thought over. I hope a solution is found. It is a thing many people have the idea for an answer to, and these are just mine.

(My typing leaves much to be desired) but it is better than my writing.

Gerald K. Ford's book, I have that. The things he writes about the testimony of the mother Oswald. I am from the South, and this old lady talks like a "Hillbillie" and the things she says, and the way she says them would sound funny to a Harvard Grad. but it is perfectly clear to the people who understand the talk. Such as the Dallas Police. No use making fun of the old lady, she knows whereof she speaks. The idea of putting her on the TV with Mel Belli, was preposterous to begin with, and now that Mel is not handling his private affairs any better or not as good as a teenage imbecile. That's answer enough.

Attys. Ball, Jenner and Leibler were on here one night from Los A. They floundered around like three fat hogs in a pig sty. Never did answer any question outright, that I heard. They seemed to want to cast the idea toward the people calling in, that they were just the common herd, knew nothing. Just simply sluffed off. I understand Leibler is a Prof. of Law.

I still feel that if some one could dissect the passages in his speeches and know where he stepped the hardest, comes the answer. I wish I could have the ability to do it. It takes some one who knew him, and with him.

I wish you luck, and I hope something comes of the work people are doing on the investigation.

Very Sincerely,
Hazel Fisher

P.S. You have to be a Southerner, or have been there long enough to understand the Southern Law Enforcement people. You never understand it, you feel it. Once you cross the Mason Dixon Line, you are in alien territory. The Oklahoma Senator says he never becomes upset over a stray bullet, or some like statement in one of this week's papers. That is one example.
