FBI Kennedy Probe Showed Vast Effort

Continued From First Page

avenue but with little information leaking out.

Everything Filed

Nothing, it seems, is thrown away. The bureau's files are a prodigious maze of fact and fiction, the product pure fancy. of both painstaking investigation and

If you have ever written to the FBI, your complaint or compliment, tip or request is probably on file. And so are Official bureau conduct is unfailingy courteous, as the Kennedy documents make clear. The requests for Information that flooded the bureau in the days after Kennedy's death were answered promptly and in some cases Hoover himself.

But the replies were not always candid. For example, when asked by Eli Chamberlain of Norwood, Mass., to characterize the politics of an Illinois Muniversity professor, Revilo P. Oliver, Hoover replied that the FBI is strictly an investigative agency . . and neither makes evaluations, nor draw conclusions as to the character and integrity of any organization, pubdication or individual."

However, a memo attached to the file copy of Hoover's letter notes that Oliver is described as a University of Illinois professor who is anti-semitic and a rightwing extremist" and that his publication is "anti-Communist in tone."

It also adds that a check of Chamberlain turned up nothing.
The bureau's almost obsessive concern for its public image was tested parly in the Kennedy investigation when Dallas police chief Jesse Curry told a news conference that the FBI had had Oswald under surveillance But never informed the Dallas police. Cartha (Deke) De Loach. Hoover's book apparently were not included in the Kennedy files made public.

The overwhelming impression left by the 40,001 file pages released last, week - another 40,000 will be made public in January - is the exhaustive lengths the bureau went to pursue even the least promising leads.

More than 25,000 separate interviews were conducted, including over 3,300 made public in the probe of Jack Ruby, the slayer of Oswald. A total of 1,300 pages dealt with tips from sources who seemed to have only a faint grip on reality, including many whom the FBI found to have serious drinking problems or histories of mental ill-

Obscure Leads

The bureau's agents tracked down a hobo who had idly scrawled Oswald's name in a boxcar, a group of Jews in Winnipeg, Canada thought possibly to have some information, an obscure minister of something called the Church of the Firstborn of the Fullness of Times, and even the author of a letter signed simply, "Chicago housewife."

An American columnist working in Rome, Italy, supplied a tip through the U.S. embassy there that Sanchez Bella, the Spanish ambassador to Italy, had shown him a report prepared by the Spanish intelligence service implicating Cuba's Fidel Castro in Kennedy's death. The FBI directed that Spanish intelligence be contacted.

A traveler reported that he had found the names John Wilks Booth and John F. Kennedy scribbled into the front cover of a phone book in a Scottsdale, Ariz., gasoline station. The middle name of Booth, killer of the President Abraham Lincoln, had been misspelled.

The FBI questioned the owner of the station and others in the area.

ington, even of the Justice Department which oversees the FBI. The late J. Edgar Hoover, FBI director at agencies and the rest of official Washskepticism of other law enforcement vehicle bureau. No one is named. supervisor in an Arizona state credit rating bureaus and to a helpful Press International services, Associated Press and United 'sources" in the giant American wire The files also betray a deep-seated S even one mention cination with files and surreptitious

sources, its wary relationship with the ness and concern for its image, its fas reau of Investigation — its thorough nation files provide a rare look into the closed world of the Federal Bu-

from files of the Mexican government and to foreigh intelligence sources

the time, succeeded in having Presi-

There are references to information documents

8

have access every

The bureau's agents seem

Ħ.

that can be tapped in Spain and Cana-da, to cooperative clerks in American motor 9

Washington — The Kennedy assassi

By JOHN J. FARMER Of The Bulletin Staff

huge Hoover building on Pennsylvania agencies and with the public emerges in the files as mostly a one-way street warned FBI agents the police are going to handle this (the assassination) properly." And, prophetically, The bureau's relationship with other with masses tips pouring into the of memos, ot ton", Hoover himself reports, assume sination.

had no foreign assistance in the assasdent Johnson overrule a Justice Department decision to announce the probe that Lee Harvey Oswald

iles Show Agency's Wide Contacts

REPUNC

5