

(O'Sullivan-Liebler). Boylston saw all the old records for the CAP and so O'S went thru them, apparently at the instigation of the Secret Service. Says couldn't find anything on Oswald. This doesn't(?) includes the records for Moisant branch, where presumably Ferrie & Oswald met. But is it believable neither FBI or Secret Service interviewed Boylston? And where are the old files for the Moisant unit? From SH30 can we understand that the Secret Service in New Orleans turned this phase of its investigation over to O'Sullivan? The way its printed, Liebler cut in just when O'S might have said more interesting things.

I have long been intrigued by the statement of Mrs. Lillian Murrell (SH131). (Oswald wanted to join the Marines while he was still 16 but couldn't get in).

JENNER: "You mean they wouldn't take the affidavit? They wouldn't admit him on the affidavit?"

MRS. MURRELL: "That's right, and so that upset him for a while, but he said very little about it. And then he met someone in this branch of the service who had taken a liking to him and he used to go over there and converse with him about different things in the service and so forth. I don't know who he was or what they talked about or anything like that, though."

JENNER: "Was Lee an insatiable boy as a high school boy?"

In the above I read DAVE FERRIE. At the end of her remark Mrs. Murrell shies away from the subject and the individual. Jenner cooperates by changing the subject.

When we think what Garrison COULD have done, compared with what he DID, we want to weep.
