Dear Harold:

The edited manuscript of Never Again is enclosed. If the editor has deleted material that you find not to be redundant and that you consider essential to the text, please indicate with stet in the margin that a particular passage should be let to stand as originally written. You may perhaps want David Wrone to look at the manuscript as well.

Three questions:

The book has no chapter 10, because, I think, at some point the chapters were renumbered. So 11 should be 10, 12 should be 11, and so on. Is that correct?

At the bottom of page 2 in chapter 2 is a reference to a desk memo, which needs to be inserted into the text. Do you have it?

Chapter 24 requires photos throughout. Will you have them sent to us?

When you have finished with the manuscript please send it back to us and we will have it copyedited. The copy editor will make sure that the transitions over deleted material are smooth and that the text reads clearly.

Richard, who has returned from Alaska, says that he plans to publish Never Again independently as a Richard Gallen & Company book through Publishers Group West.

Too, he congratulates you and Lil on the honorary degrees you will be receiving from Hood next month. As do I.

Sincerely,

Peter Skutches
