Dean of Students,

Attention: Director of Student Activities

Dear Sir:

Thirteen years have passed since the assassination of President Kennedy at Dallas, Texas, on November 22, 1963, but the investigation of this tragedy is still a most controversial issue in the minds of adults, young and old.

In late 1975, a survey of 40,000 junior and senior high school students revealed only 13% agreed with the Warren Commission that the assassination was the work of one person acting alone. Such young men and women, who were only toddlers when the assassination occurred, are now students in our colleges.

The enclosed brochure outlines a two-hour, common sense, non-political analysis of the assassination investigation, which is available to colleges, civic and professional groups. My qualifications for such presentation are well documented. The material presented will be of considerable interest to all persons, regardless of their business or profession, personal or political views, theories or opinions.

I would sincerely appreciate your making my availability known to your students, as well as representatives of reputable civic and professional groups in your community. If a scheduled appearance is desired, please furnish a first and second choice of time and date. Upon my acceptance, a contract will be forwarded for your approval and signature.

Very truly yours,

Robert P. Gemberling
