Brøther,

I've got complaints.

Whaddya mean the President's got no sense of humor. He unlesshed Agnew, didn't he? (I hope to be working on that funnybone soon.)

Second, I arranged my entire night's work to catch you on the David Frost show aired in Washington (the night you were in Carnegie Hall). For only one segment? Left me hungry. Your last appearance with Frost was a decent repast- the biggest hunk of the show. (Both just greet!)

Third, with your pal Frost I must the be victim of racial discriminatin. Discrimination, anyway. When he aired Ramsey Clark saying none of the assassinations are conspiracies and I asked for time to respond, they twice turned me down. Told me to write the individual stations. And didn't even give me a list. Clark has a sense of humor, too. He extradicted Ray on an indictment for - guess what? Conspiracy! Se,, you shoulda read my book.

More seriously, Dick, bad as I feel about having such material and not being able to get it published, I feel worse because I think had it been possible those men just murdered in Chicago might still be alive. The book says John Kennedy was the victim of a coup d'etat, that all the additional murders necessary for the success of the coup d'etat would be perpetrated, and long ago I have the Black-Panther-Cgicago story in it, proving the whole thing was trig@gered by the FBI. The books says that the CIA-Military*Industrial complex has to get rid of leaders, so it does. Right now it doesn't feel good, being a prophet.

Walter was wonderful, but it is as I told you. He has, however, tried to raise the money for a private printing. Hasn't. This is a different subject. There was only one fluke.

I know you are very busy, but I wish you could find the time to see what I will show you. Janie is going to try and come up next week. Maybe she can be your eyes.

Meanwhile, I expect to have Mitchell, Kländienst & Co. in federal court soon, on the King/Ray case. Under the (ugh) "Freedom of Information" law, the Agnew angle. After I have this out, you may want to use some of the material. It will be yours. Meanwhile, I'd like to go see it and I think you really would want to if you knew what it is.

By accident, the programs not being listed here, we caught you on ETV. We tho ught it was fine.

Best regards,

Harold Weisberg
