Dear Janie,

When you hear from Dick, please tell him the people in Boston treated me very well. They will offer me. The question is about the current interest in the subject.

While I was there, some phoned at Dick's behest. However, he left neither his name nor his number. He said he'd phone back the next day, but he didn't. That would have been Thursday.

I believe he also told my wife Dick wanted me to phone him. Again, I know neither his number nor his address.

I'll be in Washington Wednesday and will phone you from Sam's, where I'll probably go first thing. Probably I'll be there 9:30-10:00 a.m. I expect to go to the Archives to examine some of the ballistics evidence. This will not take long. Would you like to go there with me? It will be no trick to get you accredited. Then, should you ever want to go there alone, you'll know how and be ready.

We enjoyed Dick's too-brief appearance with David Frost. The moon-joke was, to my taste, better in the form in which he used it at your place, where he was not pressed for time.

When you speak to him, please thank him for me. I hope we get to see him when he is in DC again.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
