

The following question are ones that often society takes with a proverbial "grain of salt." I have selected this class to lend its support to this project by answering the following 10 questions. BE SURE TO BE COMPLETELY TRUTHFUL AND PLACE NO NAME ON THIS PAPER. You may use the back of this paper if needed. Thanks.

1. Do you object to homosexual relations? If so why? If not why? Are they (homo relations) natural? No. In our society today the majority of people have to conform in order to be accepted. People don't think for themselves, but "keep up with the Jones'". The Jones' say it is wrong and unnatural for anyone to participate in homosexual practices, therefore in order to "fit in" you have to think as they do or you're left out in the cold. Personally, without giving weight to other people's opinions, I don't regard homosexuality as being wrong or abnormal as long as both parties don't have any feelings of guilt about it.
2. Have you ever participated in homosexual relations? heterosexual relations? To what extent? Yes to both questions, and to the very full extent in both cases. I enjoy both thoroughly and have absolutely no reservations or feelings of guilt about it.
3. Who do you love most in the world? Who do you like most in the world? Why? I do not believe in the word "love" and I have never loved anyone in this sense. To me the word love means a strong and bonding affection between two people (either sex) where the people involved desire to be with/near each other at all times, under any circumstances. over.....
4. Answer yes or no as indicated:
 - Did you love your mother? Yes (word "like" better applied here than love)
 - Did you love your father? Yes
 - Did you love your father more than your mother? Yes
 - Do you stimulate your sex organs? Yes
 - How often 2 - 3 times weekly
 - Do you hate one sex over the other? No
 - Did you love your brothers? Yes
 - sisters? Yes
 - Have you ever attempted bestialism? No
 - Do you know personally a homosexual? Yes (several)
 - Are you lonely? Occasionally
5. What is the purpose of sex? Why? To me sex is an expression of one's feelings for another which could not possibly be expressed by words alone. Words spoken to another expressing one's feelings always leave the element of doubt; does he/she really mean this or is it just a line that I am being fed. To me the sex act itself, is the only true way of finding what one person really feels for another.
6. What is your favorite pastime?
 - Traveling and meeting other people.
7. Have you ever tried to get another drunk so that you might exploit him or her sexually? Give details? Never. I think that unless both are in full possession of his/her faculties it would be absolutely meaningless, and empty.

Does sex mean love to you? Why. No, not necessarily. Sex can mean this to some people sometimes, but sex can also be a mere outlet for one's frustrations and also a means of self satisfaction for a mere biological need, which is present in everyone. What things arouse you sexually? Why? Several things can cause this, namely sight, smell, touch, or thoughts from past experience of a man/woman who at the moment has caught my fancy. However this doesn't necessarily mean that I would enjoy being with this man/woman were I given an opportunity.

Talk of most exciting sexual experience you have ever had. Give details. The most exciting sexual experience that I have had was while stationed in Japan and while making love to a Japanese girl. This is very common over there and I must say Catholic quite stimulating although I only did this once and would never do it again due to the tremendous shock on the nervous system, which could be permanently injurious. This consists in taking a string of beads, approximately $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{3}{4}$ inch in diameter and about 2 feet long. These beads are inserted into the rectum and then normal sexual intercourse takes place. At the precise moment of orgasm these beads are pulled out vigorously and the sensations that follow this cannot be explained to full advantage. One would have to experience this personally to know just how tremendously sensual this is to the participant. One goes completely out of self-control and acts as though he were having fits.

The person I like most in the world is a homosexual friend which I have known ever since my introduction into the homosexual way of life (approximately 2 years ago). He wasn't the one to introduce me to it, however, and as for the reason for this person being the person I like most in the world I could not even begin to say why. I honestly do not know the reason for this attraction I have for him.
