...win Shen from Harold Weisberg, re some questions raised in your and Doug Mitchell's deposition testimony, and by it

To model to prepare a series of affidavits interrupted by reading of both transcripts. I have not yet finished reading yours. When I laid it aside last night I was troubled by some aspects, of accuracy and of Catch-22 arguments.

You certified that except for a couple of appeals, PA and another or two, you have responded to all my appeals. This is news to me. If you have a list of those to which you have responded, I'd appreciate a copy. You were to have provided something along this line. I have not received anything of this nature.

*On testified that you are aware of 1969 requests that have not been met. If you have responded to my appeals relating to 1/1/68 requests, as for photographs and the reports relating to those taken by an Army intelligence officer at the scene of the 1968 assassination, your responses have not reached me.

One catch-22 is your testimony that inclusive requests are invalid. My experience is that individualized requests are ignored. If the Department can have it both ways there is no Act. I recall virtually no compliance with the list of some 35 requests to which I testified in Case No. 14-1966 in 1976. The judge asked to be informed of compliance. I have no report to the judge because, of course, any such report will reflect virtually complete non-compliance.

This, in turn, makes that the Department's testimony to the abovesaid committee consisted of false premises and clearly deceived the Congress. This part of your deposition begins with reference to that Congressional testimony. I regard this as more important, which is not intended to diminish the importance I attribute to compliance in general, because it is testimony that is part of the Department's campaign to alter the Act. I also regard it as very important because of its significance in case 75-1936, where nothing is a factor.

There are a number of filing requests that have been honored except for the providing of duplicates of a small number of records provided to others, so long after they were provided to others that I already had them. Other cases also involving your question of a year ago. I was informed then and could not be present to assist my counsel, but I wrote you about it at some length. I do not recall any response.

There was partial compliance with my Lyons and Patterson requests. My appeals, of well over a year, are without even acknowledgement. Related reports, as Gupart and Susan Wadsworth, are without compliance. Herren relates to both cases.

How about J.C. Hardin and Harrell McMillough? These are what you call "players."

You testified that the FBI was providing its McMillough files. What is later provided is reprocessed copies of records already provided, reproduced because of the House Assassinations Committee and limited to the small area that interested it.

With regard to Hardin the Mitchell deposition testimony is at best misleading. His affidavit is not accurate. If your counsel did not provide you to him with my affidavit in response, which I anticipate because your counsel is not interested in compliance, I'm sorry but I did disprove Mitchell and I was accurate to Hardin compliance. (I disputed him on more than Hardin and I strongly encourage you to inform yourself as soon as you can, given the direction of C.A. 7-198, and further information I have been compelled to provide in it.)

That's really is quite a bit more like this. As I told you before, I invite you again, you and/or your people are welcome to access to my records but I cannot transport them to you. Ms. Barrett has done relatively little work on my filing records but she does have most of the appeals she was able to find in separate files. For quite some time now I have been captioning them, so your own filing should have been made easier for you.

Hardin, McMillough and the others are largely 1977 matters and we are not in 1980.

I was reminded of still others in the course of preparing an affidavit in which I state and prove that Mitchell's affidavit is not accurate. One of these other requests, filed as a separate written request after the FBI said it was regard it as part of Case 7-198, is a 1977 written request that was verbal in 1976, for what they call the "tiny" "security" records. (In my initial request I was inaccurate because I did not know how the FBI failed and because inadvertently a word was omitted.) The FBI promised it would provide those records once it complied with Judge Smith's Order in the Bernard Lee case. It simply hasn't happened, although the FBI has confirmed in writing, in a self-serving sense, when it sent me the few pages of the Newark G. C. file. You will find this FBI letter among the many attachments to the affidavit I sent to my counsel. Just right, if they did not provide you with a copy.

I dislike intensely having to inform a Court that the Government has misinformed it, and the more I am required to do this the more intensely I dislike it. I have to file Brundage's vision about Government as the teacher of us all, especially the very young. I do not want to face the need to inform Judge Green that your testimony cannot be accepted because it is not accurate. I have just had to do this with Mitchell's, if to a lesser degree than is possible.

This note is not to have contact with you before, like my colleague's concept of the people fraction, or other than what I have characterized as a public step, and about the FBI covering your trouble. It did a number on Mitchell, who did not heed the advice I gave him at the April 1971 Pentagon conference in Devens, MA, with the FBI well aware of his intent over my objection about his covering him.

I remind you that I have offered copies of my affidavit if your counsel does not provide them and that I did tell you that /he/ contacted Mitchell's on partial summary judgment. It now turns out that for the very purpose the FBI has provided proof of the inaccuracy of his affidavit - and that it did not tell the FBI, if so inaccurate, whom, what he wanted and how in the Atlantic files the FBI could provide. The FBI, in addition, ^{and} offered to sum up the FBI also provided on discovery, after much stalling, proof that in decision about Mr. Mitchell there had been no mistake.

Please call and quickly and let me know what Mitchell's position is on this. I have just received documentation which from my source and my affidavit supports the FBI's position. If I can't get a hold of Mr. Mitchell, you may wish to have someone else contact him.

or for any reason don't, what does it say of the b7c calls process and how am you less than a rubber stamp in my case?

Nitschell also volunteered on deposition that he forced documents the nature of which I don't recall in what I had provided, whether spycalls or the consultancy memo or both. He did not volunteer that he had made any inquiry and I do volunteer that he did not. He did not refer to the earlier attorney's memo based on the same material I used in the consultancy memo and it is accurate because I was compelled to check it and thereafter did file an entirely uncontested affidavit.

It turns out that Civil was merely feinting before the Court and me because it has ignored what I did and it has not dared contest it. Perhaps it will yet have the need. Although I've not yet read it, which is a terrible way to have to work, I'm prepared to stand on it. In order to get it done in my form I was required to go out and buy what I could ill afford and have not used since, electronic and communications equipment. I dictated then and as I could, my wife transcribed and we start it in, as I recall with a courtesy copy to you. There may well be typo's in it, I may have used a wrong number, but the basic accuracy will not be questioned and given the fact that everyone knew the conditions under which I did it, the absence of any frequency of any kind, even about the possible types, says all that need be said.

Nitschell said he had notes. Despite the subpoena, or at least I recall there was a subpoena, he had not brought them. He was asked to produce them. He hasn't. Because the nature of the consultancy will at some point be litigated and because the deposition has been filed, I would like a copy of those notes. And what you were to provide and asked Cole to note. His notation is relevant if you're to provide. He sat through the depositions and heard/testimony to relevant records that has not been provided, since he has not provided those yet filed witness for summary judgment. (One I recall is that Hiltz admitted the Lab, now Central Access, had test data within my 4/10/10 request that had not been provided, although it he personally gave the much and did provide the identified material in response to a similar request in a JFK case.)

CIVIL asked me to have an AU criminal-justice major prepare a memo based on what I'd written the FBI. They want to pay her. They haven't. Then Civil just ignored that memo until the judge, months later when Jim raised the question, directed that there be a response. Horace Beckwith provided it, complete with different and thus phoney copies of worksheets and underlying records and such falsity of a nature that can't be accidental. Civil, as it had often in the past, contrived to send this to me at a time when ordinarily it would not have reached me until I was in Washington at the ongoing status call, a Monday. But by a fluke it reached me on Saturday, and although I was not able to respond to all of it what I was able to do was definitive. This required that I check what the student did. Now in not a single instance, and as I recall it his affidavit was some 60 pages long, did Beckwith allege that the citation of what was appealed was inaccurate. In not a single instance was the nature of the complaint incomplete or inaccurate in any way. So I have this sort of a check on the underlying material in the consultancy memo.

Aside from accidental error, and not a large quantity, I am not prepared to agree with Mitchell's deposition testimony relating to what I provided. However, he did give this testimony, it is before the Court, and what can be done to eliminate what can be costly in addressing it and eliminating any unfairness ought be done and I think promptly.

You will recall, I am sure, our discussions about the Attorney General's deterioration in the King case, while it was in court. I recall your telling me that you could find nothing in writing. Well, I have, thanks to having to try to keep the AG honest and the accident of their records being easier to handle than my filer's customs. It is not an internal record in my case but apparently because it makes reference to it without identifying it or so it was filed in with the correspondence from me. Civil stalled discovery and finally produced what it did at a time that precluded me during the depositions. So, in preparing to respond to a Court affidavit in the one I've just sent to Jim I referred to the FBI's version of my correspondence and found this in them. It relates to James Earl Ray's request and it states unequivocally that the AG had waived all privacy considerations, which is what I told you.

Again, what does this mean about the appeals function and your testimony, in court and on deposition, when after more than four years there ~~was~~^{is} improper withholding; and you have provided affidavits affirming the rightness of them, yours and Hatchell's, and appear to have validated the other affidavits even if in fact you didn't?

Clearly enough the FBI had something bearing on this, a central matter in the case.

Meanwhile, you don't act on appeals and Department counsel refers to this question being addressed at some future time. Are the FBI, Department six counsel and you all part of the same agency?
