Dear Jim,

I hope your eye problem has been successfully corrected.

And that the recently Doppler exam that says I ~~have~~ have no functioning artery in either leg could be.

By now you've seen Revell's reaction to the La Fontaine adventure in assassination conspiracy theorizing. It is less critical than what I wrote the Post at much greater length.

Jeff Morley sent ~~it~~ to the La Fontaines. I have heard nothing from them.

I also wrote the Post that Revell does not have clean hands as throws stones from inside a glass house.

I did not know until he told me that Morley talked the Post into that drivel.

And even after learning, what I had suggested, that Oswald was in a cell all by himself Morley continues to believe that story.

Perhaps some day it will dawn on people that this kind of thing never helps, almost always ~~helps~~ hurts, Confuses the people all the theories have confused even more, and helps errant officialdom.

And at the same time makes it even more difficult for any responsible writing to get any attention.

Like Senator Russell Dissents.

If you have anything you can tell me about that, I'd like to know.

Best,

Harold
