County of Criminal Appeals Judge Charles County of Criminal Court Thursday.

Arrectates in the compaging to free County Earl Ray or to further muddy the tors of legal water over the dam, they succooled in ejecting the staff of Atty. Gen.
Mugh Stanton Jr. from the latest bout between Ray and the state.

Stanton briefly assisted his father, Hugh Stanton, as Ray's public defender lawyer before Ray's 1699 guilty plea. It could have made him "privy to information of trimental to Ray," Lane successfully argued before Criminal Court Judge William J. Williams.

The judge was then asked to remove himself from the case, since he was a member of the Judicial Standards Commission which recommended Galbreath's censure last year, partially because of Galbreath's the "highest regard" for Galbreath and has considered himself a friend of the former judge over the years.
Williams carefully declined, saying he has the "highest regard" for Galbreath as considered himself afriend of the former judge over the years.
