State Reacts To Magazine's Crime Charges

By JACK OWENS BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)-Gov. John McKeithen meets today with two groups of crime probers on the heels of his denial that rackets figure Carlos Marcello holds any sinister power over state government.

McKeithen took issue yesterday with a Life magazine report that Marcello, of Jefferson Parish, is able to control or influence the makers and enforcers trict attorneys. of the law at every level of state government.

"ABSOLUTELY ridiculous and somewhere." absurd," McKeithen told a news conference. Marcello is

Commission of Inquiry, created to probe claims of racketeering work to their benefit. Never, influences.

He said he had asked since I've been governor."

McKeithen said Louisiana has hold public hearings within 60

M'KEITHEN said Life, in the article about Marcello, "struck MILITARY SCHOOLS 9th us a pretty bad blow." He said WASHINGTON — The 160,000 the only influence Marcello may students enrolled in Defense have on government was over Department schools around the some local official.

any such influence over state of-school system in the ficials, State Police or any dis States.

"I know there isn't any," he said, "because in 31/2 years I certainly would have felt it

"I'VE attempted to run this the antonym of power in Louisi-state as its chief executive, and ana. He is the complete opposite at no time have we ever felt, in any department to my know-The governor was to meet with the Metropolitian New Orleans Crime Commission and his new Labor - Management Commission of Institute of earlier that the crime commis-not had some of the gangland sion meet with him and share type activities of the North and information of racketeering in Northeast, such as the protection rackets in which business-The latter group expects to being sabotaged, the gang feuds, old public hearings within 60 and mobster slayings.

"I've never heard of anything like that here," he said.

world make the system ac He disclaimed Marcello had large as the ninth largest