Dear Mr. Wilkinson,

in London

A brief note from Sidney Kaufman, dated June 30, says, "I have just had word that Collins Publishers have forwarded your script to Shavercross QC for a legal opinion. Baroness Rudberg does not interpret that to mean an absolute acceptance subject to his requirements."

Further on the possibility of a television commercial built on the wild goose, enclosed are four prints showing month-old tinkers eating from a child's hands and corn flakes from the bowl; and five slides showing the babies eating Cheerios, adults eating both cereals, and one taking bread from my mouth.

Sincerely yours,

Harold Weisberg
