

New JFK Probe Gets Sen. Long's Backing

DALLAS (AP)—Sen. James H. Long, D-Texas, today said he has some doubts about the Warren Commission report on the assassination of President Kennedy.

Long, who is chairman of the Senate subcommittee on Internal Security, said he has some doubts about the Warren Commission report on the assassination of President Kennedy.

Long said he has some doubts about the Warren Commission report on the assassination of President Kennedy.

Long said he has some doubts about the Warren Commission report on the assassination of President Kennedy.

Long said he has some doubts about the Warren Commission report on the assassination of President Kennedy.

Long said he has some doubts about the Warren Commission report on the assassination of President Kennedy.

Long said he has some doubts about the Warren Commission report on the assassination of President Kennedy.

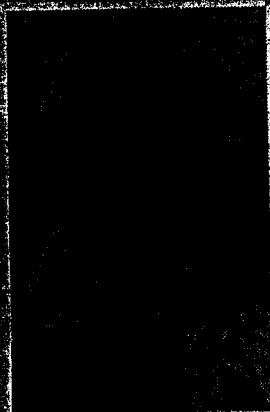

Long said he has some doubts about the Warren Commission report on the assassination of President Kennedy.

Long said he has some doubts about the Warren Commission report on the assassination of President Kennedy.

Long said he has some doubts about the Warren Commission report on the assassination of President Kennedy.

Long said he has some doubts about the Warren Commission report on the assassination of President Kennedy.

Long said he has some doubts about the Warren Commission report on the assassination of President Kennedy.

JIM GARRISON
Rondelet, La., says

anyone else was involved in Washington yesterday.

Sen. Thomas C. Dodd (D-Conn.) urged the Warren Commission to investigate.

Garrison has said he has no intention of turning over his information to state or federal officials.