Dear Mr. Weisberg,

I received your letter a couple of days ago, was very pleased to hear from you. Yes, I've ^{heard} the NAS release-what a joke. It got 2 small paragraphs in both the Detroit papers. For a subject that was at least as controversial and explosive as the Oswald EXHUMATION it sure was buried in the media. I thought it would at least be on the front pages, but it was buried in the center of the papers. I wrote NAS asking if a full report will be released, and am waiting for their reply. It sure seems to me that they didn't want too much publicity-maybe they're ashamed of what they did.

Enclosed are a few clippings from the Detroit papers. The one on Spitz is interesting-it shows how good he is on "gaping head wounds". The one on the FOIA is not so good. I imagine it won't be ~~too~~ too long before the clamps begin tightening on gov't documents. The long memo I got out of the Gerald Ford Library in Ann Arbor. It has several boxes ~~of~~ of his papers from the Warren Comm. You probably already have this one, but I'm sure that anything of real importance was removed before the files went public. I have only gone through about half the papers so far. Will go back there in late June or so. Keep up the good work. You have a lot of people who are interested in what you are doing. Best wishes in everything.

Sincerely,

Jan A. Mierzejewski

Dear Jan M.,

Thanks very much for your letter of the 25th and the enclosures. They are interesting and historically valuable.

If you get a chance to explore more of the Ford deposit, I think one of the possibly more fruitful areas will be the commission's executive sessions. If any transcripts of them are available I'd appreciate a list. Some of his writing notes about them might be available and also interesting. Also any memos on his conversations with Cartha DeLoach of the FBI, whose informant Ford was.

Best wishes,
