The Washington Merry-Go-Round

THE WASHINGTON POST Saturday, Sept. 17, 1966

Exclusive on Assassına

By Jack Anderson

Dallas, a succession of books has raised nagging new doubts about how he was shot and whetherthe accused assassin, Lee Harvey Oswald, had an accomplice. Now the anguished widow has added to the uncertainty by withholding information from all but her favor ite writer, William Manches-ter.

Anderson

Jacqueline Kennedy, nedys.

suade other authors not to to them." write about the tragedy, thus the assassination to her suasion has railed, Sen. Robert interrogate everyone who had pressure upon publishers.

All this has stirred rumors the Kennedys. Last week, he attempted rumors by declaring in an admanuscript.

firmly that she "hired" Manchester and would control what was published.

Strange Letter

She wrote this amazing letter on Sept. 17, 1964, to Jim Bishop, author of "The Day Lincoln Was Shot," who had planned to write a similar account of the Kennedy assassination.

She begged Bishop "to please not go ahead with your intended book, 'The Day Kennedy Was Shot.' The idea of it is so distressing to me, I can't bear iron-willed woman beneath to think of seeing-or of seeher fragile beauty, has shut ing advertised — a book with up everyone close to the Ken-that name and subject - one that my children might see it She has even tried to per- or someone might mention it

Then she told Bishop bluntseeking to restrict the history ly: "I hired William Manchester-to protect President Kenauthorized version. When per- nedy and the truth. He was to Kennedy (D-N.Y.) has brought any connection with those days -and if I decide the book should never be publishedthat Manchester's forthcoming then Mr. Manchester will be book, "The Death of a President," has been censored by if I decide it should be known clared. "None of the people -I will decide when it should connected with November for Drew Pearson, will report to scotch the be published . . ."

vertisement that neither the ter) spoke to were asked not wish, and it is theirs also . . . Americanism in the slain President's widow nor to discuss those days with brother has tried to edit the anyone else," she wrote, "and events with anyone else-nor they have all kept that faith, will I 'reopen the doors to Less than three years after However, this doesn't square and will continue to. So that other parts of the story.' . .

President Kennedy died in with a letter in Mrs. Kennedy's leaves nothing but the Warren "I have no wish to decide own handwriting, which this Commission report-which who writes history. Many column has seen, declaring will be public anyway-for an people will write it-but the author like vourself to base a book on."

Bishop replied that many books "would be written about that tragic day in Dallas. They tory or not.

"You have asked Bennett Cerf of Random House not to Whose $650,000? publish my book. Robert Kennedy has spoken to two executives of Random House and an embarrassing financial suc-mean this," pleaded Bishop. has paid a record $650,000 for write history, but another may whole Kennedy camp is in a not, amounts to a personal tizzy over who should get the conveight . . . If you want to money. deny me any personal assistance, I will respect your President's death, both Manwishes, but I ask, in fairness, chester and his publisher, that you reopen the doors to Harper & Row, agreed to turn from Mrs. Kennedy; this time Kennedys' choice, presumably

She Wasn't Kidding

"I would like to reiterate hat I meant exactly what I "All the people he (Manches- Mr. Manchester, That is my 6:40 on a new cause of anti-

"I will not discuss those States.

"I have no wish to decide serious ones will wait until after Mr. Manchester's book appears. This book will be the one the historians will respect .. What I am dedicated to is will be written, whether you the accurate history or those stand in the doorway to his-days and that will come from Mr. Manchester."

Meanwhile, Manchester's authorized history has become asked them not to publish it. cess months before it will hit "I cannot believe that you the bookstands, Look magazine To say that one man may the first serial rights, and the

In order not to exploit the the other parts of the story." over all profits after the first Back came a stern reply printing to a charity of the it was typed, not handwritten. the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library.

> The contract did not, however, take into account the first serial rights.

@ 1966, Bell-McClure Syndicate, Inc.

Jack Anderson, substituting 2nd will speak to anyone but over WTOP radio tonight at