

Dear Dennis,

11/6/95

Disappointed that something happened to both diskettes but glad to know what the situation is. The original was complete as the printout seems to me proves. The copy is what Jerry had made at Hood. I hope the pagination is on the diskette because if it is that permit checking all of it with the printout I have.

I wrote on Inside over a long period of time and without space to file it. I fear that the Holy Man stuff may be duplicative. I hope not.

I see now what I forgot, you say pagination is a problem.

In time chapter numbers will be also. That is because I could not lift the box in which I have that ms down to get into it and had to try to get the numbers as I stuffed more into it. Aside from The Holy Man part the order in which I've sent chapter to you is the order in which I have them. In some cases perhaps not where they should be.

Thanks for keeping me informed.

I think you have a few chapters that have not been retyped. Let me know before you run out if you've the time. Then when someone like Jerry is here I can get them from that box with more certainty they are in the supposedly proper sequence for xeroxing and sending you.

Thanks to the kindness of Hanh Tranh and Gerry, I have the box for the next chapters. They used it to send Lil more dietary supplement. She is eating better little by little but still possibly not as much as she should.

There has been much confusion here for some weeks from the welcome guests and the problems with one of the Hood Students. In two months she did twenty pages and then seeming lost the last of that chapter. Meanwhile what I finally got from her is junk that cannot be used. She is, I think obviously on something the school seems not to have detected.

How what happened to the disks did happen is a mystery to computer-dumb me but I am inclined to believe it was in making the duplicate. How is a real mystery.

Many thanks, Harold

I suppose it is possible that the young woman who did not respond for so long kept her original disk and sent me a copy of it. In that event she caused those erasures in what I thought was the original and thus when duplicated they were duplicated faithfully. If it looks like all the contents were written on at the same time, that could indicate she did this!

Dear Harold:

Just a short progress report. I had hoped to have time today to print off and go over the chapters on which the corrections had been completed and send them off to you. It will have to wait until tomorrow or the weekend, I am afraid.

But I wanted to update you in any case.

We have completed the corrections of all but one of the chapters (those which appeared to be completely intact on the diskette — which is all but a half dozen or so of the early chapters). I don't recall whether I told you that the other disk you sent was identical to the first. Both had the same missing material and the same intact chapters. Of the corrections, only the "Holy Man..." chapter remains to be done. Nancy this week begins the typing on the ones that have not yet been put on disk. That should go fairly quickly.

What I will send you within a few days is a list of chapters that are not intact on the disk and a list of the ones that are and have been corrected. I will also package up and send along the sheets with your corrections and a fresh printout of those chapters. There are a few issues of format, pagination, etc. that we need to address, but that can easily be done later.

You will be hearing from us again soon!

Hope all is well.

Sincerely,

Dennis
