

Dear Jamie and Ethan,

2/4/ 97

I've finished reading and correcting all that Dennis sent me before he left. I'd like to know what else to expect from you and about when to expect it. You can use the chapter titles for this. My file is by those chapters and I believe I have a duplicate rough draft if you have any questions.

I'd also like to know what computer programs you use. I have none, can't use them and the crop of local students this past year was incredibly bad. I'll have no more to do with any of them. I am to hear from one who has a good reputation but with students from better-off families that is not always a good indication of the kind of people they are. Some of the past were remarkably good. One who graduated two years ago and wants some extra work has taken over ^{of} the messes dumped on me by an insufferable ingrate and a pathetic, self-important fool.

Of course I want to finish up with Inside, and that means making the corrections and that requires the same kind of computer ~~in~~ making a disk or disks from the one I have to what would be used.

On the corrections, my apologies for those times I did not provide the original rough draft and for my mistakes that will have to be corrected to have all consistent. For years I was not aware of charged style. In citations, no period before the paren and one after the paren enclosing the citation. Like (3H113). Not .(3H113)

I presume that you do not have a duplicate of the disk Dennis sent me but that what you'll send you will have on disks.

Two chapters I gave Dennis were not for Inside. My fault. There may be more of this in what remains to be done that you have. I think it likely ~~but~~ I also think I'll know where they are intended to go. I do with these two.

Thanks and best to you both,
