Dear Bill,

I had not prepared the book orders for me to package while I was in the hospital because there is no place we have where they can be stacked. Yesterday I began working on them. It is clear that we are for practical purposes out of Oswald in New Orleans. I think we'll have one, perhaps two copies left when ~~gzzzz~~ all the orders are filled. While the sale is slow and we do not need many copies now I can use a few whenever it is possible to send them. For those do not worry about the size, which should not, without any changes at all, run more than nine inches in width. Please do not let other things that are important go to do this. I can write and tell those who order them that their orders will be filled soon. As few as 10 copies should hold us for several weeks, perhaps more, there being no way of predicting how sales will go. And it should not exceed the weight I am now permitted to lift. So, if you can let me know when ⁺ might expect them that will be fine and I can let those who place orders know.

Many thanks and best to you all,
