Dear Bill,

asty response to your 7/29 while Lil shucks the corn we are having for lunch.

As of the situation when we got the Caller ID we have about ~~three~~ years ago the FCC limited the range covered to our service area, whatever that may mean. All the silent calls we have been getting record "outside area." We've just returned from getting ~~all~~ some ankle weights for prescribed physical therapy at the store where I got the excellent Southwestern ~~cell~~ ^{cell} ~~speaker~~ ^{or} phone I use and that Caller ID. The salesman had no idea of any added range or added cost per month. He said to ask the phone company and when I'm resting some time I'll do that. I did called the number Bell advertises for their new Caller ID and the one who answer^{ed} the phone could not answer any questions at all! Modern business practises.

I appreciate the offer of the typewriter and wish I knew what to say. We have a nonportable L.C. Smith that presented problems but I do not recall what they were, it has been so long since I tried to use it. If it is any larger than portable size I might not have space for it. As you'll see when you are here, my office is very crowded. And because I have to keep my legs elevated I had a pedestal stand made ~~for~~ for this Hermes. My legs are eleva elevated, on each side of the pipe that holds the small table. Small = about 13x11 inches. I've come to believe that it is a bit too high. A friend made me one with a telescopic pipe but the wheels were no good. When he returns in I'll see if having the keyboard less close to my eyes helps eliminate some of the mistakes I make. I also have a problem of striking two ~~keys~~ keys at one time. Sometimes on this manual they then stick. That means I have to separate them by hand and with most of the ribbons now available locally that means that because they are overinked my fingers are stained with ink until it wears off. I'm using a wrong ribbon right now and it is not overinked. Remains to be seen if I can remove the spools when necessary! But if it will fit on this table and you have no need for it I'd like to try it. If it does not work well I can put it in the basement for those who come to work here and would like to use a typewriter.

I do appreciate the things you said and ^{we} do look forward to meeting you in October.

Many thanks and best from us both,

Herold
