

Nixon-psycho: Reston 9/7/73, "Good ~~EXHIBITION~~ Theater, "Bad Politics."

Reston still doesn't understand Nixon or the WC. He still thinks that Nixon wants a compromising Congress; to be loved and respected, to put in a popular program, all the things one would assume any President wants. He doesn't understand that Nixon's only chance of survival is to provoke everyone into fighting him. He doesn't understand Nixon's objectives and not understanding them can't see that there can be no defeat because everything that discourages people and debases the political system makes authoritarianism more certain and helps establish it. If Nixon didn't manufacture enemies for himself and then didn't pick fights with his fabricated enemies he would have to face himself, which he can't do and the people would be thinking of the mess he made. Instead they are thinking of the fights he fights. Those he fights are busy fighting him on his chosen ground, which keeps them from fighting him in ways that could hurt or with programs he doesn't want.

It is like trying to reason with the irrational, or trying to persuade one in a deep emotional funk by means of logic. It doesn't work. When Reston as much as says Nixon is a psycho he addresses him in any way but as a psycho. HW 9/14/73

Good Theater, Bad Politics

...ing performance so
...s merely irritated
...ss, which does not
... Nixon's perfor-
...ten very helpful.

APPROACH

The President's approach to the press and the courts is ...the same as his attitude toward the Congress.
... public attacks.

When Richard Yale called
...ed Mr. Nixon
... had a problem of
... confidence in his
... the President re-
... he did, and they
... this lack of con-
... on the bur-
... al deceptions and
... and sabo-
... his own supporters,
... congressional in-
... and newspaper
... the facts.

... the President "at-
... a few months or
... vision time, he
... attacked by in-
... leak by Frankly,
... and dozens of commen-
... was bound to
... ar public con-
... President Mr.

... and a
... he
... the
... all

... not so much the facts
... Watergate, disturbing as
... they are, but the attitudes
... atmosphere that made
... Watergate possible, and the
... deceptive manipulations and
... inconsistent testimony of the
... case that perpetuate the
... courts and the press.

... His confidence problem,
... which is clear in the popu... larity polls and which he has
... not yet faced, was defined
... long ago by Homer:
... "For I hold that man as
... hateful as the gates of Hell,
... "who says one thing, while
... another in his heart lies hid-
... den well."

He lives under the domi-on of fear. As he sees it, the world, the Congress, the courts, the press are all against him.

He feels that in the his own national security, and that are suspect and have to be begged, and now he reported that he even had his own brother follow and were tapped by the Secret Service.

The interesting thing about this is why, with 3 1/2 years to go and with all his problems, he keeps on protesting the independence, freedom and integrity of the Congress, the courts and the press,
and then in sees with them, defies them and blames them for his agencies and insists on his and on three or four fronts at the same time.

For almost everybody in Washington, it's a bore to keep on psychoanalyzing these strange actions of the President - his restless movements (from Camp David to Florida to San Clemente, his long absences and disappearances, and then his sudden announcements and defiant proclamations.

... what is the heart of the President's confidence prob-

... not so much the facts of Watergate, disturbing as they are, but the attitudes
and atmosphere that made Watergate possible, and the
deceptive manipulations and
inconsistent testimony of the
case that perpetuate the
courts and the press.

His confidence problem,
which is clear in the popularity polls and which he has
not yet faced, was defined
long ago by Homer:

"For I hold that man as
hateful as the gates of Hell,
who says one thing, while
another in his heart lies hidden well."

Mike Mansfield in the Senate and Thomas (D) Ho well in the House, the democratic and... have been
... and... have been
... and... have been
... and... have been

But the President has come back to Washington telling the Congress to share in

"We have had this year," he told the press, "as far as the press is concerned, a di-

