Dear Jerry,

Last night Jim Lesar's wife heard a brief news item reporting the indictment of Percy Foreman. Jim phoned me but I was able to hear not further report on the news stations that can be received here at night. I did tune in on the end of an item that referred to the Hunt bothers, whether or not more, but heard so little I have no way of knowing what was reported.

The edition of the Washington Post that reaches here carried no story.

I had been led to believe that the grand jury might report by the 24th.

And I have had a few reports on the Lubbock proceeding of, I believe what took place on the 11th.

We have been out of touch for so long I do not know what your present interest is, whether or not Jon is out, etc.

Meager and incomplete reports can be deceptive and can lead to wrong conclusions and deductions. However, I have a hunch about several things that may be in the works. This, being updated and if you have them or will get them, copies of the charges are the reasons I write.

Jim and I remain much too busy. But if you have any plans for getting near here any time in the near future, it might be a good idea.

Do the score cards I remember need any changing for understanding of the present and probable future game?

If this report is an accurate one, I can't think of much that can do more for justice and restoring credibility to those lawyers who deserve it. Not can I think of anyone more deserving of punishment.

Best regards,

Harold Weisberg
