Dear Mr. Weisberg,

I hope that by now you have received the lucite roller, and under separate cover, two catalogues: Letraset Catalogue, and the Flax artist supplies catalogue.

I took the liberty of mailing to you, the lucite roller - via air mail, so that you would receive it as soon as possible. You mentioned in your letter to me dated 7/13/74, that the rubber roller that you are using has not proved satisfactory for your purposes, and that you would have to return it soon. I posted it July 27th, 1974. The lucite roller cost $5.27 (including tax). The total cost of the postage was $1.75. My total cost being $7.02.

You mailed to me two books: Photographic Whitewash and Frame-up.: $14.95
Amount due you including postage: $15.49.

Cost of roller including postage : - 7.02

Balance due enclosed in this envelope : $ 8.47 (Check enclosed).

Under regular circumstances, I would not send packages by air mail.

P.S.: Thank you for your trust,
by sending me your two books prior to payment.

I hope that you will be able to raise the funds necessary for your next publication.

Sincerely,
DAVID S. PEARLMUTTER
