Dear Mr. Weisberg:

Thank you for granting us permission to include your work in our forthcoming anthology, The Politics of Assassination. We have set a deadline of ten days to obtain the remaining permissions we have requested, and once all the necessary releases are in hand we hope to sign a contract with Vintage Books in early June. If a contract can be signed at that time, a publication date of February 1976 will be possible. As soon as we have a contract, we will let you know all the details of publication which become available, including the full table of contents, the size and price of the anthology, and the size of the fee we will be able to pay contributors. Vintage is now talking in terms of a quality paperback, retailing at $3.95. We are hoping to pay contributors a fee averaging between $50 and $100 per article. We are grateful for your cooperation and good will.

Yours sincerely,

for the editors
