David Brinkley: "There are never any complaints . . . when the news is good."

Those Who Criticize TV Misunderstand It, Brinkley Say

Americans unfamiliar with serious journalism who think there is any intimidation television exists to entertain of broadcast liews by critics and not to inform, NBC comeven though some earlier witcongressional scrutiny ters asking why the networks subject has been presented un-"glorify and dignify this kind fairly. of unspeakable conduct."

plainers are mainly "listeners subcommittee.

Many complaints against who have never until recent, years been exposed to any-The Charlotte, N.C., Observer broadcast news come from thing like serious journalism." Brinkley said he does not mentator David Brinkley said nesses have testified that the yesterday. And he supported government is intimidating of television news programs.

news is bad, and nowadays it often is."

Brinkley said every time telvey, television news and docuevision airs pictures of urban arson and looting, for exam-ple, he gets hundreds of let-when the lawmakers think a

C. A. McKnight, editor of and president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, told the panel recent developments could threaten freedom of the press and, consequently, the public's opportunity to get information.

"Anyone wno cannot stand preme Court's recent split decision shout bias and slanting beautists about bias and slanting beautists," Brinkley said, "as when the news is good," I think anyone who can't Brinkley told a Senate Judicistand criticism should not go into publish the Pentagon Papers. He said he was appalled at the manyone who can't stand criticism should not go publish the Pentagon Papers. He said he was appalled at the manyone who cannot be should not go into publish the Pentagon Papers. ary subcommittee investigating preedom of the press.

Brinkley said he supports government's attempt to re"They appear only when the the contention of Rep. William strain the newspapers from printing the reports and dis-turbed that some Supreme Court justices' opinions were not more absolute in defending the newspapers.

McKnight also said the ASNE believes newsmen have a constitutional right to refuse f unspeakable conduct."

"It's the constant surveilto disclose their news sources.
Brinkley said many in the lance by the Congress that has He said government subaudience want to know about helped in getting balance into poenas of newsmen and their the bad news or "or ought to know about it," while the combias out," Springer told the have a chilling effect on news organizations.