When I came lacked should it to my friends. It was kind of funny because we started a discussion about the sictures of your book. The next day my friend Lonard bought the blook also. When we went for his look the owner of the candy store told we that he had a copy also. I am porry to say that the book is a little difficult for me to read. My mother is reading it and likes the book and going to reach it when I am a little older. I am very interested in the Warren Report. I have many books about President Hennedy, I admire wour intelligence greatly. also wer interest in the Warren Report.

Dear Mr. Russo,

Thank you for taking the time to write me about WHITEWASH

May I suggest that if you keep a distionary nearby, you will be able to read this book? I judge this from your letter. There are many things that seem difficult because we do not try all the means that might be at our disposal.

Remember, "Seek and ye shall find; ask and it shall be opened unto thee".

Eut thenks for your letter.

Sincerely,

Herold Weasberg
