Dear Harold,

Thank you for your letter of December 28. It was good to hear from you. It was good, also, to get indirect word of the Clifts. And if you see Luke Wilson please be sure to give him my regards and to tell him that I'd love to see him and talk with him.

I have had our files checked on Arnold Haveanke. I am told that we have absolutely no information on him. I am sorry that we couldn't come up with anything for you in this matter.

When are you going to stop grinding out additional books on additional aspects of the assassination? When will you have enough money coming in so that you can lay back for a while and rest. Frieda and I would love to see you and Lil.

Finally, on the matter of a sequel to Danger on the Right, I believe there was something later put out bringing some aspects of it up to date, primarily the John Birch Society material. I'll check with Jerry Bakst and see to it that you get a copy.

Nancy has been back since the middle of last August. She is well. She is teaching English at LIU on a Fellowship. She is at the Downtown Campus of LIU. Next semester she will be teaching English 5 instead of freshman English. I guess that's some kind of minor promotion. She is also taking her Masters at LIU because one of the aspects of the Fellowship is that she gets any courses she wants to take free. She is also studying Voice and her teacher thinks she has definite possibilities to be a really good coloratura soprano. She has been living with us since she got back in August but on this Friday she will be moving out into Manhattan to share an apartment with a girl friend. We'll miss her but we'll be consoled by the fact that it's for her good to live away from us. And she'll be much nearer her Voice teacher who also lives in Manhattan and has a studio at West 72nd Street.

Nancy and Frieda send their regards. Let me hear from you more directly than through the press and the other mass media.

Sincerely,

Sol Rabkin
