JL - In talking to Carol Pepper today I learned of a means of dating the break-in of which she and Albert are aware. She had told me that they had withdrawn their money from the bank out of fear that Albert would be sued over an auto accident. I asked her the date. She says it will be shortly after the last withdrawal from the Manufacturers bank and shortly before the equivalent deposit in another bank. So the bank records may provide a means of determining whether the break-in coincides in time with the FBI records I interpret as ordering one if the grand jury was not in session. ...Jack has a job. He is driving a delivery truck for a dry cleaner. ...The father, 80, wrecked his car and wants to buy another...Jerry claims Jimmy is in best-ever shape. ...Carol says that as she looks back on her committee experiences highlights are their throwing me out and the manner in which you spoke to them. ... I did not seek interpretations because I think they are obvious from the way she spoke. Not ambiguous. ...Today's blood test good. HW 6/15/78
