Parallels

By TOM WICKER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20—Looking back over the bloodiest events of the last few years, certain parallels are visible.

The Straw-Man Strates, attempted to disturbance the research of the land, officials reported the present that there is not a surprise of the present that there were note. After process that there were note. After process that there were note of the process of the policemen and in her half the at them too, no evidence of success that them too no evidence of success that the has been strated the present were that prisoners may the present that the present of the present that the present the present Guard was in mortal danger free Hampton's group of Blick Parther shot it our with the police in a that of gurfree At Attica one prisoner held a blowtorch to the foot of a hostage mother castrated a hostage and two hostages were killed two days before the assault. All these scare; storie received official circulation, and, all were false.

the assault. All these scare, stories received official circulation, and all were take.

The Conspiracy. When the sheets of the stories began, Congress passed a law against prossing state lines with them, were prosecuted for conspiring to cause the 1968 convention distancements. Outside agitators: were cited by some officials for what happened at Kent State, as they always used to be for any civil rights demonstration in the South, and for practically every later sheets disorder. Cleveland Sellers, an "outside agitator" who was about by the police during the Orange burg massacre was the only person to be convicted and jalled for that brutal pacification program.

Getting Tough. Almost across the board, from the ghetto battles, through college upheavals and the Democratic Convention, at Kent State, Orangeburg, and Jackson State, in Augusta and on Mayday in Washington, the authorities have not hesitated to "get tough." When some have tried to restrain the use of force—as in the case of Attorney General Ramsey Clark during the Washington riots following Dr. Martin Luther King's murder—they have been savagely criticized. Yet, those who feel themselves aggrieved in American these conting to investigation as passed in the pathorities are the passed in the pathorities are the passed in th

N THE NATION

Vietnam. Thally is a single at that in virtually the same time period in the bloodiest incident of All sortions of these perallels ranche found the straw roan of Asian Communism, the scare story from the Tonkin Gulf, the conspiracy in Fading, getting tough with troops and bombers, lawbreaking at Mylal, the frozen institutions of the cold war and the military establishment, the racial conflict of white and yellow, the class inversion of poor Americans and poor Asians killing each other.

When will we face the truth?