he spy who never

By William Endicott
Los Angeles Times Service

had a quiet dinner at the home of alone in the darkness - and vanseven years now since Thomas Riha friends, said his good-bys, drove off DENVER - It has been more than

Riha, an associate professor of Russian history at the University of agent is "10 years at best." riously that the life of a government he was being followed, adding mystefided a week earlier that he thought Colorado in nearby Boulder, had con-in Eastern Europe. ble agent? Is he dead? Or is he alive Was he a government agent? A douappearance. cumstances surrounding Riha's dishas resurrected again the bizarre cirproduced a suit against the CIA and declared legally dead. The effort has Zdened Cerveny, to have his uncle result of an effort by Riha's nephew, again here in the last few weeks as a All of these questions were raised ings, forgery and of a U. S. senator. views, court records and newspaper clippings, the Riha story unfolds like the FBI, a suicide, cyanide poison-ings, forgery and the intervention of foreign intrigue involving the CIA. a James Bond thriller - with hints As pieced together through inter-

Although the CIA has admitted it once had a "general counterintelliused as an agent. The FBI also has has consistently denied he was ever gence interest" in Riha, the agency Eastern Europe . remains unclear." "Riha is, most probably, living somewhere today in Eastern Europe . . . Why he left the United States was 17, was granted U. S. citizenship, came to the United States when he pursued his education and made his denied he ever was in its employ. tory. When he disappeared, he was way to Boulder to teach Russian his A native of Czechoslovakia, Riha three months later died of potassium after he vanished, in the home of a his wedding ring, discovered shortly that time the only trace of him was That was March 15, 1969, and since plastics manufacturer who

officer in U.S. military intelligence who could help him get his nephew, convinced the professor she was an an ex-convict who reportedly had seen Riha was Galva Tannenbaum, The last person reported to have pied Czechoslovakia. In late 1968 he ently met in late 1968. Cerveny was was admitted to the United States. Prague after the Soviet Union occuin Vienna at the time, having fled Riha and Mrs. Tannenbaum appar--Sen. Gary Hart was charged with forging a name on the will of another friend, the plastics manufacturer who died of cyanide check and other documents. She also connection with Riha's signature on a Baum was charged with forgery in poisoning. Then, early in 1970, Mrs. Tannen-sane after a hearing in Boulder Diswhere eight months later she comorado State Hospital in Pueblo, trict Court and committed to the Colmitted suicide by swallowing cyan-But she was declared legally in-ties said she uttered a profane fare-Before she died, hospital authoriof a bitch -"I didn't kill him (Riha). That son he's in Russia. He just

I have no evidence of that," he said. Mrs. Tannenbaum did kill Riha. "But she was working for the FBI or the Cerveny said he was convinced that ley, said his theory of the case is that involvement with her. CIA. Both agencies have denied any Cerveny's attorney, Martin Buckfice, asked again about Riha, said it was "better not to be interested in sity said the Denver office of the Immigration and Naturalization Service the Riha matter." Four months later, however, the ofhad told him that Riha was alive. A colleague of Riha at the univer-

Then, at the request of the Denver Post, Sen. Gary Hart (D., Colo.) ton, and an former director of the counterintelligence, James J. Anglequestioning the CIA's former chief of appearance last year as the Senate Sebrought up the question of Riha's dis-Brennan. FBI's intelligence division, Charles ect Committee on Intelligence was ceived by the mains unclear. Personal reasons were probably the basis for his deci-Eastern Europe, possibly Czechosloprobably, living somewhere today in Hart concluded that "Riha is, most sion to leave." vakia . . . Why he left the U. S. re-On the basis of information re-Senate committee,