JL- Rolling Stone: So you can have a record. Groden told me today that he had credited what he took from the Whitewash series and Rolling Stone took all of that out. When I hear from him I'll ask him for a xerox, which I forgot to do today. Bad weather and he was anxious to leave on the long trip home. Chris looked very tired. He also says that he did not know the copy of the Death Certificate he has is literally stolen. He sags the story of its history was entirely new to him. Good old Jerry! Say ones thing and does others. Despite Jerry's representation of their relations he is visiting them Sunday...My point in the Rolling Stone item is that it tends to build and to provide motive and consistency in it. Interestingly Groden says he got many questions on the King assassination at Howard last night. (Audience about 600, I think good for the very bad weather.) He is now down to 1-2 speeches a month.
