Reverse side explains delay in response and its brevity. The name Pummna now means nothing to me. Closest I recall is Killam and he's dead. But it has been a long time since I did any work in that area. However, I see no possibility for uses of hypnotism with the unquestionable Dallas facts. If you hear any more I'd like to have it on file. If you send the source of your saying Pullman was interviewed I'd appreciate it. I doubt by the Commission. More likely FBI. Hope you can understand that with this condition persisting it will be some time before I can engage in any but the most important correspondence. Thanks and have a good holiday & good year. HW 12/20/75

226 N. 23 St.
Camp Hill, Pa.
Dec. 8, 1975

Dear Mr. Weisberg,

I recently received "Post Mortem" from you, and as usual, it is an excellent book. I read all I can on the assasination and I consider you by far the expert on the subject. I realize you receive letters from "buffs" all the time and I know you're probably tired of them. However, I honestly hope you can give me an answer to my question, as I have not seen a full explanation on it anywhere.

Here is a brief background - several years ago my hobby was writing to people in the news and collecting their replys. In the National Enquirer I saw an article on a man from Dallas named Edward J. Pullman who somehow was involved in practicing hypnotism. I can no longer find the article but I know he was a right wing, anti-Communist type. I received my letter back washed "~~Has~~ Insufficient Address". This was not unusual since the article just gave a general address. I thought nothing else of it until I came across his name in a list of people questioned by the Warren Commission, listed as a friend of Jack Ruby. I checked other books but I couldn't find him mentioned again, but his wife worked for Ruby at his club. There is probably nothing new to you in this, but here is my question - What do you know about Pullman's connection with Ruby and why was he questioned?

As you know, every so often someone comes up with a Manchurian Candidate type idea concerning not only Oswald but Sirhan, so I hope you don't find my question out of line.

Thank you for your time and have a nice Christmas.

226 N 23 St
Camp Hill Pa
17011

Sincerely,
Kevin Nagle